Did you know ... that the Three Wise Men take gifts to children in Spain? The tradition in Spain is that on the night of January 5, children have to clean their shoes and put them by the door in their houses. The Three Wise Men leave the gifts next to the shoes if the children have been good. The children also leave water for the camels because they are thirsty from traveling across the desert, and some children leave cookies for the Three Wise Men.

On the morning of January 6, when the children get up, they open their gifts, and the whole family celebrates together. Many Spanish families celebrate this day by eating a round cake with dried fruit called "Roscón de Reyes".

Materials: 1 worksheet per child, dice, counters, 1 template per child, colored pens/pencils

Warmer

- Write Christmas on the board and elicit the words they know, e.g. Santa, gifts, tree, Christmas cards, candle, bell, snowman, reindeer, stockings, and elves.

1 Read. Then answer the questions.

- Focus the children on the pictures and elicit or explain who the Three Wise Men are.
- Read the text aloud while the children follow on the worksheet.
- Then the children answer the questions. Check as a class.

Answers

1 the Three Wise Men 2 January 5 3 clean their shoes 4 next to the children's shoes 5 the camels 6 the Three Wise Men

2 Play the game.

- Have the children look at Activity 2. Divide the class into pairs and distribute the dice and the counters.
- Explain that they play the game on one shared worksheet, but they color the numbers at the bottom of the game on their own worksheet when they get a question right.
- They get a point for each correct answer. The children take turns throwing the die and moving their counters. The winner is the one who gets to the end and has the most points.
