

The Post Office

- Look at the picture. Talk about what is going on.
- What place is shown in the picture? Do you know of any places like this that are near where you live?
- Why do people visit these places? Name some things they might do when they visit them.
- Why are lots of things here coloured green, do you think? Why is this important?
- What jobs do people do in places like this one?
- You might be used to lining up in school. Where do people line up when they are in the post office? Can you think of another name for a line of people?
- If people didn't line up in the post office, what might happen?
- Can you think of all the steps you would need to follow to post a letter to your friend?
- Sometimes dogs are not allowed into post offices and shops. What might their owners get them to do while they go inside? Are there any types of dogs that would be allowed to come inside the post office, do you think? Explain your answer.
- Many people don't post letters any longer. They use different ways of sending messages instead. Can you think of any other ways people send their messages nowadays?
