

In order to become a fully qualified teacher and achieve QTS, you need to complete an induction period of one year. This is known as your ECT year.

To successfully complete this year, you need to evidence that you have consistently met the the Teachers' Standards (England)<sup>1</sup> or the Practising Teacher Standards (Wales)<sup>2</sup> over a period of time.

You need to ensure that you keep a portfolio of evidence to show that you have met the Teachers' Standards. This handy pack has resources that will help you put together the evidence you need to show that you are meeting Teacher Standard 2: Promote good progress and outcomes by pupils.

Resource 1

How to Evidence Teachers' Standard 2

Start off by going through the resource so that you have a clear understanding of the different strands of the Standard. Once you know what the requirements are, have a look at the different actions you can take and the ways you can evidence that you are meeting Standard 2.

Resource 2

Top Tips for Meeting Teachers' Standard 2

This resource gives you some great tips on what you can practically do to ensure that your pupils are making progress in line with expectation.

Resource 3

Teachers' Standard 2 Checklist

Once you know what the different strands are and how you can evidence meeting the requirements, go through this checklist to see if you are doing everything you need to. Start off with the yes or no answer and then write what evidence you have to meet the Standard. Put this into your portfolio along with your evidence to show that you have been a reflective practitioner.

There are also a few examples of resources in the pack to help you meet Standard 2.

Good luck!

<sup>1</sup> <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/teachers-standards>

<sup>2</sup> <https://hwb.gov.wales/professional-development/professional-standards>