

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The king is a proud and mighty ruler with diamond eyes.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The Greek soldier is a courageous warrior who is as fearsome as a lion.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The cute girl wears a dress of soft, sparkly silk that dances in the breeze.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The mischievous pixie hides his wispy hair beneath a long crimson hat that clings to his head.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The sorrowful monster feels as blue as the colour of her skin.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The ancient owl swoops as silently as the moon appears in the night sky.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The record breaking athlete has powerful legs of steel and she she can run like the wind.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The sensational goalkeeper can fly like a bird to make a save.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The elusive alien has four beady eyes that shine like black beetles.

Describe the Character

Use descriptive language to describe the character. Consider their attributes and appearance. Use figurative language to bring the character to life. You could use similes, metaphors and personification. An example of a descriptive sentence has been done for you.

The reptilian boy has mottled snake skin that is green like pondweed on his bony legs.

