

Liar, Liar, Pants on Fire!

Instructions:

1. A nominated student picks a 'Have You Ever?' card from the pile (students can add in their own ideas, too).
2. The nominated student must answer the question with 'Yes, I have', even if this is a lie.
3. The other students ask follow-up questions in order to determine whether the student is lying. If the nominated student is lying, they must invent answers to be as convincing as possible.
4. The other students vote on whether the nominated student is a 'Liar, Liar, Pants on Fire' or a 'Goodie Two-Shoes'.
5. The nominated student reveals whether they were telling the truth... or lying!
